

Prepare to immerse yourself in Sydney's latest captivating sound and light experience when Sonic Neon makes its grand entrance at Luna Park Sydney on the 13th of April, with tickets available for purchase today.

An all-ages and accessible event, Sonic Neon will take visitors on an electrifying journey through eight unique zones of light, lasers, mirrors, and interactive installations. The attraction will illuminate over 150 metres of the historic Crystal Palace, a beloved Sydney landmark with nearly 90 years of history.

Featuring over 26,000 lights set to a pulsating soundtrack of iconic beats, this family-friendly experience showcases never-before-seen technology in Australia, turning light and sound into an immersive, breathtaking spectacle.

First release tickets holders will have exclusive access to a secret zone inside – a Blacklight Dessert bar illuminated by a UV-lit installation. Visitors will be able to purchase glow-in-the-dark desserts including custom treats by Sydney's famous Tokyo Lamington along with glowing fairy floss and soft serve ice-cream.

Sonic Neon will join the ranks of Sydney's most cherished rides and attractions, including the Big Dipper, Hair Raiser and Volaré. Seamlessly blending with the Park's exhilarating thrills and delights, Sonic Neon promises to amplify the fun, wonder and escapism, captivating visitors of all ages.

Luna Park Sydney's CEO John Hughes said:

"Immersive experiences continue to dominate the global market, and Luna Park Sydney is committed to delivering world-class experiences to Sydneysiders and visitors alike. With Sonic Neon now sitting alongside an expansive range of rides and attractions at the park, the adventure and excitement at Luna Park Sydney are boundless."

"Luna Park Sydney celebrates the best of the old and the best of the new. Housing Sonic Neon in our 1935-built Crystal Palace will be a spectacular collision of heritage and modern technology. Opening on the 13th April, this immersive experience will offer the public a new way to enjoy Sydney's original, ever-evolving playground."

Produced entirely in Sydney by Luna Park Sydney and created by Mandylights, a world-class pioneer in lighting design, technology, and immersive experiences, Sonic Neon showcases the city's vibrant creative community.
